cabcard single-use payment card

- Paper payment card usable for one ride only (like a ticket for parking)

How it works

Booking a ride: The payment card works in every mini-cab AG vehicle. The use of this payment method therefore does not need to be indicated when booking the taxi.

Start of the ride: The payment card must be shown to the driver when starting the ride.

Payment procedure:

- The payment card is read-in by the driver at the destination and the cost of the ride is charged to the customer account.
- With the personal cabcard issued to a name, the cardholder obtains a voucher for signature, no signature is required for single-use cards (for guests). The guest will obtain a duplicate voucher upon request.
- Single-use payment cards are intended only for single use and are kept by the driver.

Checking on the internet portal: Individual rides on account (bookings) and invoices can be viewed live on the Taxi4Me internet portal.

Invoice

Rides on account are charged monthly by invoice. The invoicing is presented clearly and contains all of the information on individual rides (date, time, driving distance, cost centre etc.). Upon request, the invoice can be grouped and totalled according to the cost centre.

Costs

Free payment cards: The payment cards are issued to users free of charge.

Rate reductions /lump sum costs: The usual taxi meter rate or possible lump sum costs also apply with payment cards.

Fee for invoicing: The monthly invoicing fee is CHF 3.50 (including VAT). This fee is charged once per month and only for those months during which rides on account occurred. The invoicing fee is omitted for electronic invoicing.
